ALMA MATER

On Manassas Western Border
Clear against the sky
Proudly stands our Alma Mater,
As the years go by.

Forward ever be our watchword,
Conquer and prevail!
Hail to thee, our Alma Mater,
M.H.S. All Hail!

Cherished by thy sons and daughters
Memories sweet shall throng
Round our heart, O Alma Mater
As we sing thy song.

Architect's Sketch of New Building

Like stars in the firmament we have peopled these halls, each shedding a brightness about him. Many have gleamed in the darkness of confusion leading others into the galaxy of brotherhood and charity. Thus we perpetuate the glow, the brightness, and the warmth of our stars -- the students of Osbourn High School.

CLASS HISTORY

We began our long school journey in 1941, just a short time before Pearl Harbor and the beginning of World War II. Only three of us, now remaining, began the first grade together -- Catherine Baker, Sylvia Kline, and Doris Ann Kline. Martha Jeen Saunders joined us in the second grade.

We were not too young to remember those dark days of war when we saw our fathers and brothers, relatives and neighbors called into service.

Those early years at Bennett School were crowded with a mixture of reading and rationing, of geography and blackouts, of arithmetic and soldiers home on leave.

By the time we entered the fifth grade, the fighting was over and we rejoiced with our families at the coming of peace, goodwill, and post-war prosperity. Our school work continued smoothly. In the sixth grade we gained Gilbert Miller. Then came the time for promotion into high school. As Freshmen, better known to our Elders as Rats, we gained Joann Vanover and Sammy Russell.

As Sophomores we enrolled the greater portion of our male students -- Philip Barksdale, Pat Kullenberg, Max McClendon, and Robert Runion. Next year we got Nancy Thompson and Ernest Lunsford. Leonard Yankey, who joined us last fall, completes the fourteen Seniors who graduate this year.

Our class is small, but our memories are many. We began school during one war and we graduate during another. Some of us look ahead with concern and cynicism; others with faith and hope that ours will be a rich heritage. But all of us will keep alive the happy times we shared in school together.

In the years to come may we recapture the many events, the interesting diversions, the happy work, and the lingering memories and echoes -- dances, football games, a hay ride, basketball, springtime fancies, SCA, assembly programs, the Junior-Senior Prom, graduation. . .

CLASS PROPHECY

On this first day of June, 1962, the old Osbourn school building has been torn down and in its place is the largest filling station this side of the Rockies, MAXIE'S FILLING STATION.

As I pulled up in my wreck, I was greeted by my good friend, Max McClendon, who invited me inside to talk over old times. Just then a school bus braked in and we saw Catherine Baker. She had not changed much in appearance. Only her last name is different. She is now a physical education instructor in Richmond, with a championship team in the bus.

Soon a limousine glided to the station. Reclining in the back seat, almost out of sight because of the leopard-covered upholstery, was Doris Anne Kline. She is now secretary for one of the largest law firms in Nokesville and had borrowed the boss's car for some shopping.

By this time it was Max's lunch hour, so he took me to the hotel for a bite to eat. There in a booth behind us sat two sophisticated women chatting over old times. They were Joann Vanover and Nancy Thompson. Joann is working with her husband for the FBI and Nancy is a very prominent secretary to U. S. Senator Filibuster.

Max had to hurry back to the station, so I accompanied him. Waiting for us there was Phil Barksdale in a souped-up Ford with a large PRESS banner across its front. He's a reporter for the Philadelphia Eagle and was on his way to Texas to cover a big story.

A little later Pat Kullenberg drove up in his aging hotrod. Pat is now building hydrogen bombs in Georgia for Uncle Sam and was on his way to Washington for a conference with Eisenhower.

Then a big farm truck loaded with cattle chugged into view. Striding toward us were Gilbert Miller and Sammy Russell who now are prosperous ranchers. They told us that Leonard Yankey is working hard on his farm, and has little time for hayrides any more. At this time Sylvia Kline breezed into the station. She had come from Buckhall to get skid chains for her car. She and Douglas have a farm and are doing nicely.

Then we heard the tooting of a horn. It was Robert Runion, who now owns a skating rink at Alexandria and still enjoys skating.

That ended our reunion, except for one person--Ernest Lunsford. We expected him to drive into town in a Cadillac, but no. He putted in on a motor bike.

As for me, I'm still hanging around Manassas.

Philip Barksdale, Treasurer;
Sylvia Kline, Stenographer; Ernest
Lunsford, Parliamentarian.

The Student Cooperative Association is the self-governing organization through which the students plan and carry out school activities.

The purpose of this organization is to promote the idea of self-government among its members, to create a deeper sense of responsibility, and cooperation, and to sponsor activities for the further development of the school.

SCA is made up of all the students in the school, but it has two governing bodies which are the Senate and the Council.

The Senate is composed of three Seniors, two Juniors and one Sophomore.

The Council is made up of the chairmen or presidents of all home rooms, clubs, committees, and organizations.

The Senate is appointed by the Council, which in turn is elected by the student body.

The committees (Extra-Curricular Activities, Buildings and Grounds, Health, Finance, Publicity, and Monitors) are each composed of a chairman, a faculty sponsor, and a representative from each home room.
